

Kauri and Jenny Thompson
JenX Services

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] Office
[REDACTED]

re: business opportunity rule, R511993

Dear Sir or Madame,

I am writing this letter because I am very concerned about the proposed Business Opportunity Rule R511993. In its current form I believe it will prevent me from continuing as a Xango Distributor.

I have been a Xango Distributor for three and a half years. We have worked hard to generate an income that my family now depends on. Some sections of R511993 make it very difficult if not impossible for us to continue to promote Xango. The proposed 7 day waiting period is unnecessary because Xango already has a 90% buy back policy which includes the starter kits purchased by new distributors.

Our distributor kit costs $35.00, or the price of 1 dinner in a nice restaurant. I see people buying time shares, stocks, and televisions without having to wait 7 days. This waiting period insinuates to others that they are taking a huge risk. $35.00 to start your own business is not a huge risk. I wonder at some point if car salesman (or saleswoman) and stockbrokers will be required to wait 7 days. Having to keep detailed reports on when I talk to them and send them into my company will only create more expenses and will burden my business. I think this proposed rule is bad.

Finally, in a day and age of identity theft we are being asked under R511993 to disclose a minimum of 10 prior purchasers nearest to the prospective purchaser. I am uncomfortable giving out personal information of individuals to strangers. Women in my organization will be vulnerable to sexual harassment. Would you want to sign up in a business if you knew your information would be given to many strangers? This is why I believe this proposal will destroy my business and make me liable and vulnerable to future problems. The FTC would in my opinion be required to form a department to protect those individuals' rights whom are exposed through this requirement.

Scam artists and crooks will always find a way to circumvent the law. I am a law abiding citizen. R511993 will have devastating effects on my business.

Thank you for your attention in this matter,

Kauri Thompson